If I Could Be Like Mike...

"His biography on the National Basketball Association (NBA) website states, 'By acclamation, Michael Jordan is the greatest basketball player of all time.' Jordan was one of the most effectively marketed athletes of his generation and was instrumental in popularizing the NBA around the world in the 1980s and 1990s" (from nba.com). On this day (May 16) in 1985, twenty-five years ago, Michael Jordan was named NBA Rookie of the Year. However, "he tried out for the varsity basketball team during his sophomore year, but at 5'11," he was deemed too short to play at that level. His taller friend, Harvest Leroy Smith, was the only sophomore to make the team" (from wikipedia.com).

We can learn from young Mr. Jordan that tenacity pays off, but we can also learn that despite what others may say (as I understand it, a coach once told him he was too short for basketball), we have the potential to do extraordinary things. Extraordinary things by the world's standards, but even more special things for God.

Each one of us has the potential to bring souls to Christ and save them from torment. Each one of us has the potential to be an Andrew who brought his brother Peter to Jesus and bring our families. Each one of us has the potential to be like Philip and bring those of another nationality to Jesus (he brought the Greeks). Each one of us has the potential to bring others to or keep others in the work of Jesus (Barnabus encouraged Silas and he became a great servant). Each one of us has the potential to bring young people to Jesus (as some did and the disciples rebuked them).

The question is not, "Do we have the potential?" It is, "Will we live up to our potential?" Whatever you plan to do with your day, week, month, year, or life, keep God in your plans. Be persistent with the knowledge that he has made you special and that you have potential and then do the work heartily and God will bless the work that you do!

~Daniel
